- Balance

Appropriate authorship and acknowledgment
Role of Authors

- The research being reported should have been conducted in an ethical and responsible manner and should comply with all relevant legislation.
- Researchers should present their results clearly, honestly, and without fabrication, falsification or inappropriate data manipulation.
- Researchers should strive to describe their methods clearly and unambiguously so that their findings can be confirmed by others.
Role of Authors

- Researchers should adhere to publication requirements that submitted work is original, is not plagiarised, and has not been published elsewhere.
- Authors should take collective responsibility for submitted and published work.
- The authorship of research publications should accurately reflect individuals’ contributions to the work and its reporting.
- Funding sources and relevant conflicts of interest should be disclosed.
Why Authors don’t behave responsibly?

- Lack of Training
- Pressure of publications
- Unawareness that modern tools of journals can detect their forgery etc
- Lack of infrastructure for conducting novel research.
- Lack of System
What is this?
Educate Authors politely about your modern tools
Training workshop for authors

- Authors usually don’t read “Instructions to Authors of journals”
- Guide and help authors and provide solution to their problems in Hands on Training Session.
- Identify pockets/institutes from where major portion of publications come.

Why Editors fail sometimes to provide responsible publication

- Lack of training of Editors
- Lack of Manpower
- Lack of Good Software
- Lack of trained admin staff
- Lack of trained reviewer
- Majority of the manuscripts are not up to the mark resulting in wastage of time.
Role of Editors

- Editors are accountable and should take responsibility for everything they publish.
- Editors should make fair and unbiased decisions independent from commercial consideration and ensure a fair and appropriate peer review process.
- Editors should adopt editorial policies that encourage maximum transparency and complete, honest reporting.
- Editors should guard the integrity of the published record by issuing corrections and retractions when needed and pursuing suspected or alleged research and publication misconduct.
Role of Editors

- Editors should pursue reviewer and editorial misconduct
- Editors should critically assess the ethical conduct of studies in humans and animals
- Peer reviewers and authors should be told what is expected of them
- Editors should have appropriate policies in place for handling editorial conflicts of interest
How to improve Editors Contribution in Responsible publication

- Training of Editors (CME course)
- Training of Reviewers
- Providing Good IT support
- Training of Admin Staff

Excellence in Publishing

This editing has not come, but try to understand:
It is a river of flame and will drown.

As the fire, the fire will burn, the water will cool.
